

Meet the Teacher

Nicole Sidwell

About Me

I'm Nicole and I teach Nature School, Story Times, Meet and Greets, and special programs. I live in Wethersfield with my husband, 2 daughters, and a whole lot of pets. I love to read, hike, my favorite place to be is the ocean and my favorite animal is a rat.

Education

I went to Vanderbilt University in Nashville where I received my BS in Elementary Education and Special Education. Then I was lucky enough to get my Master's from Lesley University in Ecological Teaching and Learning – a fancy way to say Environmental Sciences

Work Experience

I have done a little bit of everything in education. I've taught 3rd grade in Windsor, 4th/5th grade in Boston, tutored K–7th grade in Hartford and New Britain, and volunteered in my daughters' classes

Fun Fact

I have a lot of animals. I share my home with 2 dogs, 3 cats, goldfish, a golden Dojo Loach, a 25 year old Fire-Bellied Newt, 5 chickens, and an Axolotl.
